GREAT BTITAIN.

LONDON, September 24.—The Guardian says: A manuscript in Lord Byron's own handwriting will soon be published, which will settle the question raised by Mrs. Stowe.

The Times, to-day, in an article on the letter of Father Hyacinth says: "It is to the Pope and his Jesuit advisers that we are indebted for A. J. Hyacinth. Without the idea of a Council he might have continued in the discharge of his office, occasionally startling his hearers with sudden flashes of the truth—that is in thus bearing the accustomed yoke, and allowing himself to be accounted the luminary of the Church of which he is now considered a fire brand, the Pope would scarcely dream of rebuking him in the same manner. He continued Father Passaglia, the noted Italian theologian and opponent of the temporal power. Father Hyacinth's letter is not the production of a worldly spirit. It is the effusion of a soul in earnest, and is the first utterance of a word which may take root and grow and fructify.

The Standard to-day says: "Whatever her legitimate claims to Cuba may be, Spain labors under a disadvantage in having to prosecute them in the face of the susceptibilities of the American people while she is herself in a condition of revolution. The Americans cannot wish for anything else than that Cuba shall be free to choose whether she remain with Spain, or become an independent Republic. That material assistance is rendered to Cuba through the sympathy which the Americans feel for her, cannot be doubted; but if those sympathies should demand war, it would be the most anomalous and extraordinary conflict ever seen.

Joseph Whiteworth, inventor of the Whiteworth gun, and Wm. Fairbank, the celebrated engineer, have been created Baronets.

Prof. Seely succeeds Rev. Charles Kingsley as Professor of Modern History in Cambridge University.

FRANCE.

PARIS, September 24.—The Gaulois asserts that France has sent a note to Prussia and Baden, declaring that she will regard the annexation of the Grand Duchy of Baden by Prussia as a casus belli.

The father and son supposed to have assassinated the woman and her five children, whose bodies were found this week in a field near Paris, have been arrested at Havre.

Gen. Fleury has been appointed Embassador to St. Petersburg.

GERMANY.

BADEN, September 24.—A session of the Diet of Baden was opened by the Grand Duke in person. In his speech the Grand Duke said the relations of Baden with the North German Confederation was of the most friendly character. He was happy also to announce that the national feeling was in process of development among the people of Germany, and that measures were about to be taken to make homogenous the defensive system of the Confederation of North and South Germany.

SPAIN.

MADRID, September 24.—The meetings of a Republican Club have been suspended by the authorities because a resolution was adopted condemning monarchy.

Since the return of General Prim to Madrid, the language of the American Minister has been more conciliatory.

PRUSSIA.

BERLIN, September 24.—The Ministerial Journal announced that the Crown Prince of Prussia is about to visit Vienna on an invitation from the Emperor. This fact shows that the desire is generally entertained at Vienna for the establishment of the most friendly relations with Prussia.

ITALY.

VIENNA, September 24.—It is stated on authority of the United States Legation here, that there is no foundation for the rumor that the Austrian Government has proposed to join with France for the purpose of mediation between Spain and the United States on the Cuban question

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 24, 1869.

It is stated that an expedition of three hundred men got off from Cedar Keys, Fla., on the 14th instant, for Cuba, per steamer Lillian.

A wealthy man of this city, whose name is not announced, has contributed $8,000 to enlarge and improve the woman's hospital.

The association of California Pioneers arrived this morning, and are stopping at the Astor House.

The annual Convention of the National Telegraph Union was held to-day at the Western Hotel. But few delegates were present and little of interest was done. The Treasurer's report showed a good financial condition of the Union. The future control of all the affairs of the Union was vested in the Executive Committee, which is composed of the officers and publishers of the Telegrapher, the organ of the Union. The following officers were elected: President, W. H. Young, of Washington, D.C; Vice President, W.O. Lewis, of New York; Recording Secretary, W. W. Burhan, of New York: Secretary, F. L. Pope, of New York; Treasurer, A. L. Whipple, of Albany. J. N. Ashley, publisher and editor of the Telegrapher, was re-elected.

Dr. Porter, junior partner of the old firm of Carlton & Porter, Methodist book agents, and immediate predecessor of the present firm of Carlton & Lanahan, returned to town yesterday, having just heard of the rumored defalcation. He thinks it exceedingly questionable whether there has been any loss whatever to the Book Concern by fraud in its management, or any other cause; that Dr. Lanahan, the new agent, has been led into mistakes in his investigations.

The Express says that later information regarding the defalcation of Mr. Headley, junior partner of Vandewater & Co., make it appear that he has made away with about $20,000.

The latest Tribune money article says at five o'clock this afternoon the Gold Exchange Bank was able to make payments, and from all appearances the houses which were unable to respond to their accounts to-day, from the lull in business, will be in funds to meet their checks at the clearing house to morrow The article says that the culmination of the excitement in the Gold Room caused considerable purchases of stocks to be made for an advance, and at the close of business the market was strong and excited, with an advance of 1@5 per cent. from the lowest quotations. The Sub-Treasury balance is $88,873,586.

The steamer Pennsylvania, from Liverpool arrived to-night.

—General Canby has printed his correspondence with prominent Virginians relative to the test oath. The letters show that as ealry as June 10th, a month before the election, he had to reply to letters of enquiry, and announced his intention of requiring the test oath of members of the Legislature.

—Judge Swayne, of the Supreme Court, in United States Circuit Court yesterday, granted an injunction prayed for by H. and G. L. Blandy against Thos. —A man calling himself Colonel J. P. Nicholowski, who claims to have been a soldier in a New York regiment, and also one of Colonel Ryan's Cuban force, was arrested at New Haven, Connecticut, yesterday, on the charge of swindling, he having attempted several confidence operations, and in one case received one hundred and sixty dollars on bogust drafts on the United States Treasurer.

—The countryman named Byrd, who was robbed in a Memphis bagnio Sunday night, and who had several of the inmates arrested, since Monday morning nothing has been seen or heard of him, despite the search of detectives, and it is feared he has been murdered. Madam E. Grauger and nine women have been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in his taking off.

—A Havana letter says: Under the news from Spain the people are discussing a probable war with the United States. It is almost worth a life for an American to go into the streets alone. It is reported that Mr. Pumb in consequence of a long cipher dispatch received day before yesterday has directed the archives of the Consul Generalship to be compactly packed, and that he will call a meeting of all the subjects of the United States to-morrow or next day. American Houses not only refuse to take orders for goods, but will not sell exchange as freely as usual. On the contrary many are purchasing exchange, and drawing all ready funds from the custody of the banks here.

The Campaign at Butler.

GOV. GEARY'S RECEPTION.

BUTLER FAIR, &c.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BUTLER, PA., Sept. 24, 1869.

Governor Geary and suite left Apollo yesterday morning at eight o'clock en route for Butler, Pa. At Allegheny Junction they were met by a Committee of citizens from Freeport and escorted into town. A large company greeted the Governor's arrival at the depot in Freeport, and much enthusiasm prevailed. The party were immediately taken in charge by a Committee from Butler, who accompanied them to that place. All along the route they were greeted with evidences of the heartiest enthusiasm.

Upon arriving at their destination, they were escorted through the principal streets, and finally brought up at the hotel where the formal reception took place. The excitement was intense, and the people seemed to turn out en masse to welcome the distinguished visitors. After taking some refreshments the party visited the County Fair which was in progress. The reception at this place, where visitors from all parts of the county and surroundings had gathered, was equally flattering, and exhibited in a marked degree the feeling of the people.

At night a grand mass meeting was held at the Court House which was literally packed with a jubilant audience of ladies and gentlemen who had turned out to honor the Chief Executive.

At seven o'clock the meeting was called to order by Hugh Morrison, Esq., Chairman of the County Republican Executive Committee, and a large list of Vice Presidents and Secretaries were chosen. A brass band from Pittsburgh was in attendance and added to the spirit of the affair by interspersing the proceedings with patriotic airs.

After an organization had been formally effected, the chairman introduced the Governor, who was loudly cheered. When the excitement had calmed down somewhat he commenced his address, and spoke for over an hour, during which his remarks called forth frequent bursts of applause.

At the conclusion of the Governor,s address, Hon. Mahlon Chance, of Ohio, entertained the audience for a short time with a telling speech. Other speeches followed, and the meeting adjourned at a late hour, with cheers for Geary and Williams.

From the spirit manifested, it is evident Butler is fully awake, and will give a good old fashioned majority for the Republican ticket.

The Governor, on his return from Butler, will stop at Freeport and speak at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, after which he will go to Pittsburgh, arriving Saturday night. This will interfere with the arrangements for the meeting at Tarentum, which will have to be postponed. A change in the programme was thought desirable. He is in excellent working trim and is conducting his share in the campaign with telling effect. H.

NEW ORLEANS.

Custom House Matters—Overhauling the Books—Frauds Discovered—Evading the Law.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS September 24.—The Picayune says for some time past investigations have been going on in the Custom House of the books as far back as Kellogg's regime. It has been discovered that during the Kellogg's administration of customs, large frauds were perpetrated in a manner so bold and flagrant that it would be an insult to intelligent officials than in office to suppose they were not cognizant of the facts.

Vessels of comparatively small tonage have cleared from this port with cargoes apparently, of whisky, on their manifesto, that ships of three or four times their capacity could not have stowed away. Imaginary merchants, of Honolulu and Greenland have received, on paper, many such consignments, which in reality were sent west or put in the market here.

ST. LOUIS.

A Duel—Nobody Hurt—Suicide—Sale of a Telegraph Line.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, September 24.—A duel was fought about six miles from this city a day or two ago, between Baron Von Alefeld, from Holstein, and Col. Siever, of the Neu Welt German newspaper. One shot was exchanged, which hurt nobody, after which the matter was amicably arranged.

An unknown man went into a second hand store to-day, bought an old shot gun, had it loaded, stepped out on the side walk, placed the muzzle against his side, pulled the trigger with his foot, blew a big hole in his abdomen and died shortly after.

The Mississippi Valley Telegraph Company have sold their lines to the Atlantic and Pacific Company for $260,000 in stock.

BASE BALL MATCH.

A game of base ball between the Excelsiors, of Brooklyn, and the Olympics, of Washington, was played this afternoon, and won by the Olympics by a score of 38 to 13.

CHINESE LABORERS.

Koopmanschoop, the contractor to supply Chinese labor, had an interview with Secretary Boutwell to-day, when the latter stated that the Department had no intention of interfering with the scheme of Chinese immigration, unless the laws were violated. He left this evening for Memphis and New Orleans, and thence to attend the Louisville Commercial Convention.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

There are no new developements today on the Cuban question, beyond the report that it was spoken of in the Cabinet meeting; and a telegram read from Minister Sickles in reference the to respectful declination, by the Spanish Government, of the proposed mediation by the the U. S., between Spain and Cuba. There is no question pending between the two countries directly concerning the war in that Island.

MONTHLY AGRICULTURAL REPORT.

The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture, for August, says of corn: Unless the close of the season is very favorable, there must be one hundred and fifty million bushels less than a full crop.

There will be a reduction in the yield of cotton from the Carolinas to Alabama, and a material increase from Mississippi to Texas. The probabilities at present favors a yield of 2,750,000 bales, which crop as a whole, is larger. The only States showing a decrease are Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and California.

Fruits have yielded abundantly—apples in a less degree than other species.

In stock hogs there is a reduction in the number and condition, as compared with last year, of 5 to 10 per cent.

A Panic Among the Stock-Gamblers.

A New York letter of the 22d says: Wall street was the scene of another intense excitement this morning, in the shape of a panic in the stock market, resulting in so heavy and rapid a decline in the value of what are known as the Vanderbilt (Central and Hudson River) shares, as to wipe out scores of margins, and make bankrupts of many who counted themselves well off when they came down town a few hours earlier in the morning.

It must not be supposed that a panic like this affects the professional brokers only. There is a multitude of men of small means, who have $1,000 or so in brokers' hands as margins to buy and sell on, and with all these the wide fluctuations of to-day, of course, made short work. The brokers themselves, as well as their customers, at one time were panic stricken, and threw overboard their securities (?) without mercy.

—The Grand Lodge of Good Templars, in session at Rochester, N. Y., adopted a platform which says: 'The first solid and great principle of our Order is in the assertion that every Good Templar should do all he can both by precept and example to abolish the use of intoxicating drinks. The doctrines of prohibition for each individual and for society stand first in the teachings of our order, and while we are not a political organization, but rather an institution to educate the people of a political action, a Good Templar in the discharge of his duties as a citizen, should recognize the claims of his obligation and do all in his power to secure and force restrictive and prohibitory legislation. The time has not come for the organization of a political party, but the time has come for every temperance man to engage in temperance politics, keeping in mind that we can labor for the largest immediate results now practicable. It is evident that prohibition is now presented us as the first available work to be done.

—At New York, yesterday, was unexampled in the history of Wall street for excitement. The prices of gold opened at 145, and was forced up to 155, at which figure the "Bears" made some settlements. At this point a prominent "Bull" offered 160 for five millions and the price went up to 164. At this figure several foreign bankers threw heavy amounts on the market, forcing the price down to 139¼. This, together with a report that the Secretary of the Treasury would sell four millions to-day and four more on Monday forced the price down to 135. The "Bulls" made a rally and again got the price up to 160. This did not last a great while, as the "Bears" again rushed the price down to 134 amidst most tremendous excitement. The price at two o'clock was 135, with the excitement unabated.

—A side wheel steamer named Helen Brooks, built of iron, and but sixty-five feet in length, has arrived at Chicago from Baltimore. It came through the New York and Erie Canal to the lakes, and thence around to that city. It will leave Chicago for Bayou Tesch, Louisiana, via the Illinois and Michigan canal to the Illinois river, thence to the Mississippi river and its place of destination.

HAMILTON, Canada, September 23.—Considerable excitement was created this afternoon in banking circles caused by the absconding of Mr. Gates, ledger keeper of the Bank of Montreal. He is reported to have taken $50,000 obtained by certified checks, etc., and gone to the States.

A Few Plain Words to the Voters of Allegheny County.

EDITORS GAZETTE: The undersigned claims to be as good a temperance man as the county holds. He also claims to be a good Republican—one who always supports the nominees of the party, unless good and sufficient reasons are given to him for voting against them. With these promises before him, the question occurred, "What is my duty this Fall in reference to the candidates for County Commissioner?"

As a temperance man and a Republican, Who shall I support? Boswick, Dickey or McGee? This is a question which every voter should carefully weigh for himself before casting his vote at the coming election—whether he be a temperance or an intemperance man, he should fully discuss in his own mind which of the three candidates to support with his vote and voice.

Mr. Bostwick holds the nomination from the Republican party, Mr. Dickey from the Reform, (I believe that is fair, for they don't claim to be the temperance party, at least their speakers don't) and Mr. McKee from the Democratic party.

The undersigned is personally acquainted with all three of the candidates, and can cheerfully testify to the good character they all possess, and so far as an acquaintance of several years with them goes to prove, he is fully persuaded that either one of them is as trustworthy as the others.

In the matter of business qualifications, they again are equally well fitted for the office; being all business men of good commercial standing.

In the matter of this world's goods, I believe Mr. Dickey has the advantage over all, and Mr. McGee has it also over Mr. Bostwick—the latter being not only a poor man, but, unfortunately, the loss of an arm has unfitted him for competing on fair grounds with his more fortunate rivals.

Now, I propose to drop Mr. McGee, as he is a Democrat, and no better qualified, in my judgment, than his Republican opponents, and hereafter confine my remarks to the other two candidates, being both Republicans.

In the first place, then, I distinctly state that Mr. Bostwick was nominated by his party in opposition to George Hamilton, the present Commissioner, a member of the obnoxious ring, if any such thing exists outside of the heads of a few disappointed and chronic office-seekers. He defeated, in convention, the candidate of the ring, for this nomination, on the distinct pledge made to his friends that he would honestly and faithfully execute the law, and on this pledge being made known, he received the open and bitter opposition of every one supposed to be in the interest of Whisky.

What more can Mr. Dickey do? What more does he propose to do? Nothing!

Now, then, will he fulfill his pledge to his friends to honestly and faithfully execute not only the whisky or license law, but all business coming before him as County Commissioner?

For my part, Messrs. Editors, after an acquaintance of fifteen years, I am willing to trust him, so far as honesty and integrity are concerned.

Yes, but the Dickey men say, has he the back bone necessary to oppose the remaining two Commissioners? Aye! he has that very qualification in an eminent degree, for proof of which I can point to his history as a police officer and to his conduct in times when it required back bone, or moral courage, to enforce the police laws, and a more determined man does not exist, than this same one armed candidate.

Again, does he drink? Is he a drinking man? You Republicans who threw up your hats for General Grant, and have steadily and persistently voted for every county and city officer for these dozen years or more, need not be informed that there is a distinction to be made between a man who drinks and a drunkard. That Chauncey Bostwick does not belong to the latter class, need not be affirmed here; but if he or Mr. Dickey wanted a glass of wine or beer, or maybe on a cold day something stronger, the writer firmly believes that they would take it, and do Mr. Dickey's friends attempt to find fault with it? No! On the contrary, their orators everywhere proclaim that they are not a temperance party of tee-to talers, but temperate men, after reform in the Commissioner's Office. So do we.

Now, sirs, one word more: Who are Mr. Dickey's friends? Who are they who hold up their hands in holy horror and cry out with a loud voice, this man, Bostwick, must not be elected. The orator who is stumping the county for him, is himself a disappointed and chagrined office seeker. He went into the County Convention and sought to be nominated by the Republican party for Assembly, and was defeated. Of course he cries out "mad dog" to turn the public gaze from himself. He was perfectly willing to accept a nomination from any ring, or as the old maid said, "good Lord, anybody." But lo! when he failed and was defeated, then he became loud and blatant against the corruptions of the party, and rung the changes that the ticket should be bolted. Poor fellow, I commend him to a faithful husbandry of his resources.

Others of Mr. Dickey's warm friends we find among those who supported the claims of Jos. Dilworth for this same office of County Commissioner. Of course, they don't like Mr. Bostwick, or any body who had the audacity to defeat their candidate—par excellence—he who wanted to work for the county without pay or hope of reward, but whom the convention preferred to set aside for the purpose of nominating a worthy one-armed poor man, who could not afford to work for nothing.

Other supporters of Mr. Dickey are made up as follows:

First—Disappointed and soured Republicans.

Second—Democrats, who want McGee, their candidate, elected.

Third—Temperance men, opposed to all law for licenses and who are stupid enough to believe the Commissioners have unlimited powers for granting or not granting all licenses.

Fourth—A few respectable Republicans who, knowing Mr. Dickey and not knowing Mr. Bostwick, prefer the former, accordingly regardless of the fact that they might thereby elect McGee.

Fifth—Isaiah Dickey, whom the writer told a few days ago that he would gladly support, when he became convinced that he was better fitted to fight off the double distilled whisky heads, and thereby enforce the license law as it stands, than Mr. Bostwick.

Sixth—Chronic growlers, those unfortunate exhibitors of humanity, who upon all occasions stand ready to pull down any fabric erected by other hands than their hands.

Now, Messrs. Editors, I am done; these reflections have been hastily written, without the knowledge of any person, and just as they occurred to me, as I sat quietly in my office, calmly looking over the whole matter. If you think that they will cause any Republican to pause and think before casting his vote for a bolter, thereby assisting not only the election of a Democrat, but adding impetus to that propensity so often denounced by yourselves, viz: impeaching the officers or the nominees of the Republican party, without giving reason therefor, then you can print it; if you think otherwise, drop it quietly into your waste basket and no fault will be found with your judgment by the undersigned.

A BUSINESS MAN.

ALLEGHENY CITY, Sept. 21, 1869.

PETROLEUM MEWS.

The Titusville Hearld of yesterday says:

Within the last thirty days prospecting for new oil fields and for the continuance of oil belts, has been unusually successful. About a month ago a ten barrel well was struck near Emlinton, in an entirely new district. Then the Church Run district was extended westward by the striking of a new twenty-five barrel well. Following closely upon these a new sixty-five barrel well was struck on the Shaw farm, Rouseville, by which a large addition was made to the producing lands. More recently the Bean farm and Cherrytree run districts have been enlarged, the latter considerably, and to-day we have to report that the territory at Rouseville, on the west side of the creek, has been extended three-fourths of a mile westward. This last has been made tolerably certain by the striking of a new well at the distance named from the creek. The well is located on the A. Buchanan farm, is known as the Mountain well, and now produces 25 barrels daily. It was completed about three weeks since; but owing to the tubing in it being defective, the production did not exceed six barrels, until early this week, when the defective tubing was removed and the production has since increased, and now is as stated. The well is owned by the land interest of the farm on which it is situated. The discoveries of territory noted above are of great importance, as they will add much to the wealth of the region and allow development to be pursued on a much more extended scale than at present.

On Jamison flats, at Tionesta, operations thus far, have not resulted in anything that can be considered satisfactory. The Knapp well, which was the first struck in this district, and which produced from a sand rock, found at the depth of 212 feet, for about a month, is being drilled deeper, and has reached the depth of 550 feet without an oil producing rock being found. Its owners will sink it to a depth of 620 feet, at which they expect to find a sand rock thick enough to retain oil.

On Monday last Mr. F. W. Mitchell and Dr. Cooper purchased the Alcorn tract near the Shaw farm, for $10,000. The purchase includes one hundred and thirty-seven acres, and is well located.

A new five barrel well was struck on the Allegheny river south of the Farran farm, a few days ago.

A company has been formed to test the territory on the Muskingum river, between Marietta and Lowell, Ohio. A good show was found a few days ago in a well about three miles south of Lowell. This well will be tubed and pumped by the company.

THE Typographical Union of Washington has not thus far taken any action on the question of the admission of Douglas, the colored printer, the whole subject having been postponed until next January.

A LITTLE girl in Laporte, Ind., recently purchased a copy of Webster's unabridged dictionary, costing twelve dollars, with two hundred and forty 5 cent nickles which she had hoarded up for the purpose.

SOUTHERN WOMEN are about to petition George Peabody to have arrangements made whereby a part of the fund for the education of the Southern people can be devoted to the industrial instruction of young women and girls.

THE Atlanta (Ga.) Intelligencer complains that $500 and $1,000 bills are being sent there for the purchase of cotton, and it fears it is a Northern trick, resorted to for the purpose of endeavoring to break down the cotton market.

DR. SHANNON, a resident of Pennsylvania, who had been stopping in Peoria, Ills., for a short time, for the benefit of his health, died suddenly on Saturday of last week. His disease was typhoid fever with scrofulous symptoms.

THE coffin of a young lady at St. Cloud, Minn., who had been buried eight years, was opened a few days since. While there was nothing left of the body but the bones, a wreath of flowers was as perfect and fresh as on the day it was picked.

A FRENCH chemist asserts that he can so cleanse printed paper as to make it suitable for receiving a fresh impression. He states that by immersing the printed sheet in a slight alkaline solution the ink disappears, and leaves the sheet of a pure, spotless white.

THE Coroner's jury in the case of the three children burned to death in a recent fire in Cincinnati, returned a verdict "in accordance with the facts," and charged the parents with culpable negligence in leaving them to their fate without an effort to save them.

AN "old miner" at Avondale proposes that hereafter all the miners give one day's pay toward the fund for the benefit of the widows and orphans. By this means, he says, they can raise $10,000. He has given his first day's wages, since the disaster, to the cause.

WM. N. KENNEY was tried for murder at Newport, N. H., on the 16th inst., and found not guilty by reason of insanity. He was thereupon sentenced to "confinement in the State prison until liberated by due course of law." How can a man found not guilty be sentenced at all?

THERE is a couple living in Lynn, Mass., who, in sixteen years of married life, have resided in no less than sixteen different towns and cities, and taken up their quarters in twenty-eight different houses. During this "moving" period the lady has become the mother of eleven children.

THE Peoria (Illinois) Transcript relates the story of a death bed penitent, a woman, confessing to having secured the conviction of a man for robbery by testifying falsely, and "says it is but another commentary on circumstantial evidence." It is an argument in favor of such kind of testimony.

THEY recently had a baby party in Fredonia, Chautauqua county, N. Y., which was attended by thirty-five young gentlemen and ladies, between the age of six weeks and two years. They were all with their "mamma's." The Advertiser and Union says everything waslovely, and every baby handsome.

THE record of the Sir John Franklin expedition was found on the California coast by Mr. James Daly, of the firm of Daly and Rodgers, lumber merchants in San Buenayenture. Mr. Daly, walking on the beach, accidentally stumbled upon a battered leather bag, made of sealskin and closely fastened, and in that the paper was found.

CHARLES BRENNEMAN, a farmer living ten miles south of Morris, in Grundy county, Illinois, was murdered by his son John and one Charles Morganflash, about five weeks since. The body was found buried under a manure heap, on the farm, the head broken and the brains protruding. The accused are in jail. Their object was robbery.

THE Madison (Ind.) Courier is informed of a youngman in that vicinity who was taken sick two years ago, and fell into a deep sleep, from which he awoke two weeks since, when he asked, "Is breakfast ready?" as though he had just awakened from a regular night's rest. He had in the meantime received sustenance and medical attention.

THE Germans announce bethrothals in the papers as regularly as we do marriages and deaths. They herald births with much flourish. For instance: "I have the honor politely to announce to my relations and friends the happy delivery of my dear wife, Julia, maiden name Satmarn, a healthy, strong boy. Cologne, August 17, 1869. Eduard Fomin."

JOSEPH MESSNER, the Rochester (N. Y.) wife murderer, received information from his counsel of the adverse decision of the Supreme Court in his case with considerable emotion, but before the interview terminated said "he did not care about the matter, although life was sweet to him; that the man who bet his money on his being a fool would lose it; he was ready to die," &c.

AS MRS. P. H. TAYLOR, of Rochester, was engaged in making fruit preserves, she was driven from the kitchen by the entrance of a swarm of bees. She thereupon procured some tobacco, and, with her head wrapped in a cloth, returned to the kitchen and placed the weed on the stove. She did not get out, however, without one severe sting. The fumes of the tobacco killed the bees.

AN extraordinary circumstance occurred at Carleton Place, Canada, a few nights ago. A shoal of eels came down from the lake in such numbers as to stop the water-wheel of a sawmill from turning. They were jammed in and around the wheel so closely that it could not move until the men went down and cut them out with a chisel and mallet. This occurred twice during the night.

A BENGAL TIGER, belonging to a circu and menagerie, escaped from his cage in the village of French Mountain, near Lake George, N. Y., at a late hour one night last week, and was the cause of a very decided sensation. The tiger was not long in making known his whereabouts, for the bleating of a calf in pain and terror indicated that his royal highness was satiating his gluttonous appetite on live veal. The leaders in the hunt discovered him crouched over a yearling heifer greedily lapping the blood which spurted from a wound in its neck, and at once put in execution a plan devised for his capture. The keeper, Mr. Clem King, procured a rope, and making a noose in the form of a lariat, he ascended by a ladder from the outside of a shed to a window, from whence he passed to the rafters immediately over the tiger. He then gave a loud shout, which caused the tiger to look upward, giving Mr. King an opportunity to throw the lariat over the animal's head, which feat he dexterously accomplished. Drawing his rope taut, he made it fast to a beam, and another rope was passed to him, with which he succeeded in lassooing the tiger in the same manner as before. Mr. King then threw the end of one rope to a party of men near the entrance to the shed, and when they had secured it, he threw the end of the other rope to another party, and the two lines were at once stretched, each party walking in an opposite direction. When the tiger would make a rush at one group of his captors, the others would haul taut on their line, and thus prevent him from doing any mischief. After much exertion, and several ludicrous stampedes from the bystanders, he was dragged back to his cage, which had in the meantime been repaired. When he came in view of his den he bounded in of his own accord; but the attendants, in their haste to secure him, closed the iron door too suddenly, and severed about a foot of His Majesty's tail.

STATE ITEMS.

NEW steel works, at the Henry Clay furnaces, Berks county, are about going into operation.

IN Philadelphia, recently, a man over one hundred years old was married to a woman aged sixty-eight.

THE largest tannery in the world is at Kane, McKean county. It is not yet finished, but has six hundred vats in operation, and consumes fifteen thousand tons of hemlock bark per year.

PROMINENT members of the Philadelphia bar are taking measures to secure a fund for the purchase of an oil portrait of Hon. Joseph Allison, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

THE Pittstown Ledger says the iron works at that place are now running on full time, and that the nail business, which had been depressed, has revived under an advance of fifty cents per keg.

IN THE Brooks shooting case in Philadelphia, Tuesday, Keenan was discharged, and Hamilton and Atwell were remanded to jail. All of the others implicated were released on bail. Brooks failed to recognize any of the prisoners under arrest.

THE Allegheny Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, embracing Bedford, Somerset, Blair, Cambria, Indiana, Clearfield and Huntingdon counties, met at Bedford on the 15th, and remained in session until the 20th.

THE city Erie has just issued $50,000 of water works bonds, and the Councils have resolved to issue $50,000 more improvement bonds, to meet present indebtedness, this latter issue to run fifty years at seven per cent.

A MEETING of the Bedford county voters, without distiction of party, "opposed to the erection of an expensive Poor House," is called for the evening of the 29th, at Bedford, to consider what steps shall be taken in the premises.

MUCH anxiety is felt for Jos. Grimes, a colored man, who left his home in Meadville on Tuesday, the 14th, and has not been seen since by his family, although heard of at Franklin. He showed symtoms of derangement of mind.

DURING a thunder storm Tuesday afternoon, the 21st, the large barn of Henry Rollman, Cumru township, Berks county, was struck by lightning and destroyed, with all its contents, consisting of this year's crops. Six horses were rescued.

COL. JAMES WORRALL, railroad engineer, is to address a citizens' meeting in Bedford on the 29th, at which subscribers to the stock of the Bridgeport and Bedford Railroad are requested to attend, as "a very important change of programme is contemplated."

THE last of a consignment of California "fireflies" from a Cuban, in the possession of William Long, of Philadelphia, is dead. The insects are beetles, fully an inch in length. Thirty of them were imported, and in a delicate splint cage they emitted sufficient light to render visible every object in a small room.

ANTHONY PETERS, while deepening a well in Ringgold township, Jefferson county, on the 15th inst., felt the gases to be affecting him, and signalled to the man above to raise him up, but when hoisted twenty-five feet he fell backward to the bottom, receiving injuries of such a character as to cause his death,

ON Wednesday the fifteenth inst., Mr. Wm. Marshall, of South Shenango township, Crawford county, lost his life by being thrown from a buggy. He was riding with Mr. Peterson, near McLean's Corners. Peterson let the horse go at a reckless rate of speed, it is alleged, when approaching the Shenango creek bridge, and Mr. Marshall was thrown out and so badly stunned that he fell into the water and was suffocated before relief could be afforded.

THE Reading Gazette complains of the management of the public schools of that place, more particularly of the shameful overcrowding of the primary departments, "three children being packed on a seat intended for two." It says "these poor little things are kept some five or six hours a day, in many cases in badly ventilated rooms, without even a five minutes recess being allowed them, as was formerly the case." It seems that the Board of Controllers have dispensed with their City Superintendent, and the result is that the schools are going backward veyr fast.

A HORRIBLE CASE OF HYDROPHOBIA is reported in Philadelphia. In July last Georgiana McCredy, aged twelve years, was bitten by a dog afflicted with rabies, and a few days since symptoms of hydrophobia appeared in appalling forms, immediately followed by terrible convulsions, each succeeding one more shocking than its predecessor, until the agonies of the child were the most awful of which the mind can conceive. The parents were well nigh distracted at the horrible sufferings of their daughter, and on Wednesday night, acting, it is said, upon the advice of others, administered quick poison, thus putting an end to her tortures. Previously the mother had appeared before a magistrate and deposed to the fact of her daughter having been bitten by the dog; also, that the owner, one John Helmuth, knew that the canine was afflicted with hydrophobia, yet took no means to kill it. Before the ease was disposed of the magistrate was advised of the death of the little girl, whereupon he refused to take bail, and committed the prisoner. Counsel for the defendant held that the magistrate had no right to refuse bail; that Helmuth had not bitten the child, and was, therefore, not responsible. The Alderman thought his action justified by the allegation that the prisoner knew the canine was mad, and had made no efforts to secure it.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

DR. LIVINGSTONE.

Sir Roderick I. Murchison has written a letter to the London Scotsman, giving the arguments on which he bases his opinion as to the movements of Dr. Livingtone. Persons familiar with Africa have suggested that Livingtone is probably a captive in the hands of the powerful king of Cazembe, but Murchison argues that the missing traveler is proceeding westward from Lake Tanganyika, to trace the watershed and drainage of the southern regions of the continent towards the Atlantic. Murchison asserts that he has such implicit confidence in the tenacity of purpose, undying resolution and herculean frame of Livingtone, that he holds stoutly to the opinion that, however delayed, the great explorer will overcome every obstacle, and will emerge from South Africa on the same western shore on which he appeared after his first great march across that region, long after his life had been despaired of.

ARCHBISHOP OF ARMAGH.

The disestablishment of the Irish Church by the bill recently enacted by the English Parliament, has very strangely been almost immediately followed by the death, on September 16, of the Archbishop of Armagh, the primate of Ireland. The history of this prelate, who was not a man of remarkable ability, exhibits the system of church preferment in Ireland, and its injurious effects upon active religious life. Family influence alone seems to have secured the successive promotions of Marcus Gervais Gervais Beresford, one hundred and seventh Archbishop of Armagh. He was born in 1801, and was the son of Dr. George Beresford, Bishop of Kilmore, and a near relative of the Marquis of Waterford. In 1839 he was appointed Archdeacon; in 1854 was consecrated Bishop of Kilmore, being successor of his father, and in 1862 was translated to the Archbishoprick of Armagh, succeeding another relative, Lord John Beresford, who had been Primate of Ireland for forty years.

BISHOP OF EXETER.

THE Bishop of Exeter, Rt. Rev. Henry Philipots, whose death has been mentioned, was a person of no little consequenee in England. As a controversialist he upset Dr. Lingard and Lords Grey and Durham. He was made Prebendary in 1809, and soon after had the rich living of Stanhope. He fought for the Church in pamphlet after pamphlet, and gained such triumphs that he was both ferred and honored. His pen was in constant action, but his greatest renown was his letter to Lord Canning, which took the highest tory ground on the Catholic Emancipation question. He was made Dean of Chester, and was made Bishop of Exeter by the Duke of Wellington. As a member of the House of Lords, he was prominent in all the political agitations, his position being among the bitterest tories. He had one trouble in the ecclesiastical courts from rejecting one Mr. Gorman for alleged blasphemy. Involved in a dispute with the Archbishop of Canterbury, he formally excommunicated him. Since 1860 he has not appeared in public life.

PERE HYACINTH.

The Atlantic cable announces that this celebrated preacher has renounced his allegiance to the Church of Rome, and a short account of him may not be uninteresting. Charles Loyson, known as Father Hyacinth, was born at Orleans, in 1827, and finished his studies at the Academy of Pau, of which his father was rector, and at early age became famous for his remarkable political writings. In 1845 he entered the theological seminary of Saint Sulpice, at Paris, and, after four years' study, was ordained priest. He was next appointed professor of philosophy at the great seminary of Avignon, and subsequently professor of theology at the great seminary at Nantes. He next performed the duties of priest in the parish of the Church of Saint Sulpice, and after ten years' trial became convinced that his true vocation was preaching. He then spent two years in the Convent of the Carmelites at Lyons, and subsequently was admitted to that Order and made his first appearance as a public orator by preaching with great success during a spiritual retreat held at the Lyceum of Lyons. He next preached the Advent course of sermons at Bordeaux in 1863, and the Lent sermons at Perigneux in 1864, and in the summer of that year proceeded to Paris and preached first at the Church of the Madelaine and next the Advent course of sermons at the Church of Notre Dame. During the last five years the sermons of Father Hyacinth have been one of the great attractions of Paris, and his preaching has attracted large and intelligent audiences.

DR. WHITTIER CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails. A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success. It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice. The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints. The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa.

the Treasury order to buy four millions of bonds to-morrow was attended by an advance of about 1 per cent., and after the call the advance was carried to 1 per cent. further. The market fell off somewhat before the close and left off dull.

The stock market during the morning was feverish and unsettled, and early in the day there were indications that it would again drift into a panic. The special features were New York Central, Hudson, Michigan Southern, Pittsburgh, North Western and Rock Island. New York Central ranged between 173 and 185¾, Hudson between 155 and 160, Michigan Southern between 88½ and 94¼, Pittsburgh between 101 and 105½, Rock Island between 106¾ and 108½, North Western between 79¾ and 74, and Northwestern preferred between 82 and 86. St. Paul fluctuated 69¾ to 73, and preferred between 80½ and 83¼. Pacific Mail ranged between 71 and 74¼. At the one o'clock call the market was steadier, and later became active and firm, Central selling at 185, Michigan Southern 92¾, Northwestern common 95¾, preferred 84⅝, Rock Island 168¾, Pacific Mail 73½. Subsequently rumors of failures caused a general and marked decline, especially in leading speculative railway shares. Pittsburgh fell suddenly to 78, in consequence of the closing of the doors of Smith, Gould, Martin & Co., who were large holders of the stock, and who, however, say they have five or six millions in gold in the Exchange Bank, and will be all right in the morning. The market finally closed with a decidedly better feeling,

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Sept. 24, 1869.

The financial excitement in New York together with the wild and violent fluctuations in gold, were the principal topics of discussion in commercial circles to-day, and almost everything else was looked upon as a matter of secondary importance. There was a time when half the advance in gold reported to-day, would have set everythingelse wild; flour would have advanced 50, perhaps 75 cents per bbl; wheat, 20 to 25 cents per bushel, and so on to the end of the list. Now, however, the general markets do not sympathize so sharply with gold, and besides nobody has any confidence in the advance being sustained—in fact the indications are more favorable for a decline.

APPLES—Dull, the market being completely glutted, and we quote nominally at $1@2 per bbl.

BUTTER—Also is dull, with a large stock on hand, and prices are tending downward; we now quote at 25@30 for fairto choice.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of prime eastern cultivated at $12@13 per bbl.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged, ranging from 14 to 16 cents, as to quality.

CARBON OIL—Quiet and unchanged; may be quoted at 29 for round lots, and 30@31 in a retail way.

EGGS—Dull at 22@23.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and dull, and devoid of anything new or important. We continue to quote western flours at $6,50@6,75 for good, and $7@7,25 for choice.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged—sale 4 cars prime Red at $1,34. Oats less excited and hardly so strong; we now quote at 53 on track and 55@56 in store. Rye is reported in better demand with sales at $1,12 and even $1,15. Corn is quiet and unchanged—sales prime yellow at $1,00. Barley is not offering to any extent, producers not being satisfied with the price, $1,25, and choice would probably bring $1,30.

GRAPES—Sales at 8@10 cts.

HAY—Sales at Allegheny Diamond market of 85 wagon loads at $15@22 per ton.

HEMP—Very dull, $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LARD OIL—F. Sellers & Co. quote Extra No. 1, at $1,43@1,45, and No. 2, at $1.05@1,08

PROVISIONS—Firmer and higher Shoulders, 16¼@16½; Ribbed Sides, 19; Short Ribbed, 19¾; Clear do, 20; plain Sugar Cured Hams, 22½; Cavassed do, 23½. Mess Pork, $33½@33¾. Lard, 20½ in tirces, 20¾ in bbls, and 21¼ in kegs.

PEANUTS—Sales at 15 cents.

PEACHES—Very dull but unchanged; may be quoted at $1,00@1,50 per box.

PLUMS—Sales of prime fresh receipts at $4,50 per bushel.

POTATOES—Sales of Sweets at $4,00@5,00 per bbl—the latter figure for prime Jerseys.

SEED—Flaxseed is in demand, and the mills are paying $2,20@2,25. Small sales of timothy seed at $4,25@4,50. No demand for clover seed.

SALT—Is firmer, with sales of car load lots at $1,85 per bbl.

STRAW—Sold in Allegheny market at $12 per ton.

Live Stock Market.

NEW YORK, September 24.—The arrivals of Beeves were 2,200, but not all selling and trade is slow; the Cattle are mostly common and prices are weaker; choice Kentucky grades of 8¼ cwt. did not exceed 16c, while 5 cwt. Texans scarcely brought 10c; the receipts count up rising 7,600 fresh Cattle for the week. Sheep also are weaker with 48,000 to-day, after 7,000 yesterday, about 2,000 are yet unsold and prices are ½c lower. Hogs advancing; the arrivals being only 12¼ cars to-day and 12 cars yesterday; dressed touched 13¼c for a few prime, while some 260 pound Illinois Hogs sold alive at 10¾c, with rough Michigan, 190 pounds, sold at 9¾c.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Sept. 24, 1869.

There is nothing really new or important in the oil business worthy of special notice. The market continues feverish and unsettled, in consequence of the wild fluctuations in gold and depression in foreign exchange, though there was a fair business in the aggregate to-day, notwithstanding. The feeling this evening, if anything, was a shade better than during the early part of the day, and for some deliveries of refined the bids were an ¼ to ¼ higher. The shipments west continues large, and they would be larger still if it were possible to get all the cars ordered and wanted.

CRUDE.

Not a single sale reported. Spot or seller this month is offering freely at 14¾, but there appeared to be no buyers above 14½. Sellers option all 1869, nominal at 14@14¼ and buyer, 14¾@15.

REFINED.

Sales of three lots of 500 each for September, at 31¾; 1,500 do at 31⅞; 500 October at 32 5-16; 1,000 do at 32½; 1,000 buyer all year at 32½; and 1,000 each October to March at 32. In the forenoon, 31¾ was the best offer for September—in the afternoon, as will be seen, there was a sale at 31⅞, and it was said that the same figure was offered for more.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Sept. 24, 1869.

The metal market is reported firmer with an improved demand, and as stocks are by no means large, and the arrivals only moderate, prices are firm and tending upward.

Bar iron and nails have been advanced and we now quote the former at 3¾ less 3 per cent. or 3½ net., and the latter at $4½ per keg, less 12½ cents per keg and 3 per cent. cash. There is a continued steady demand for bar iron, orders flowing in pretty freely from both east and west, and all the mills have as many as they can conveniently fi l, and stocks in this market are very much reduced. The fluctuations in gold is causing a good many orders to come here from the east, and shipments are now being made from here to New York, Philadelphia and even Boston.

RIVER NEWS.

The metal marks only indicated 23 inches last evening, but we have proof positive that there were 30 inches, as the Sallie arrived about noon, drawing 30 inches, and what is more, experienced little or no difficulty. She came up through Rowley's chute.

The weather yesterday was oppressively hot—mercury 85 in shade, and 112 in the sun.

The Belle departed for Parkersburg last evening. The New State had not arrived up to 3 P. M., although considerably over due.

The Sallie, in command of Capt. T. S. Calhoun, will leave for Cincinnati this afternoon, As she will take but a limited amount of freight, shippers should hurry down their goods as early in the day as possible.

Capt. Tom Rogers and James Whitten piloted the Sallie up from Cincinnati.

The Bellevernon continues to make engagements for New Orleans; also, the Maggie Hays for St. Louis—to leave on the first water.

—The Camelia and Glasgow were at Cairo on Wednesday.

—The Will S. Hays, Dan Rice's circus boat, was at Madison on Monday. She is on her way up the river.

—The R. C. Gray for Memphis, and Mary Davage for New Orleans, are still loading at Cincinnati.

—Captain Harrison Blaisdel will take command of the Dardanelle—not Captain J. B. Archer, as prsviously arranged.

—The Mollie Ebert left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Wednesday drawing 3½ feet. Pilots—Capts. G. W. Ebert and Jacob Poe.

—The Phantom, which exploded her boiler last week, was not running in place of the Cumberland, but in opposition to the Scott, which last named boat took the Cumberland's place in the Evansville and Cairo trade.

—Stuart & Co., Madison Ship Yard, have contracted to build a steamboat two hundred and thirty-five feet long, for the Northwestern Union Packet Company. The work on it has been commenced. So says the Madison Courier, of Monday.

—George Burke, a St. Louis, Cincinnati and Missouri pilot, died in St. Louis, on Monday or Sunday evening. He was a Virginian by birth, leaves a wife and four children, died very poor, and his life was not insured. His mother has adopted two of the children, and Capt. Sam Burks' wife has taken the other two under her fostering care.

—On the last trip down of the Mountaineer, when lying at a little town on the Missouri, on board stepped a well-dressed young man. Says he to Captain Jake Sedam, "I want to go St. Louis, and have no money. You know me, don't you? You ought to, as when in St. Louis I always lie around Miller & Lupe's, playing pin-pool." "Ah, you do?" responded Jake, "then I don't know you, and you can't travel on this boat unless you pay fare."

—The St. Louis Democrat, says: Sam. Dickey, second clerk of the steamer Nick Wall, got down here from Benton on Tuesday night. He says that all the Nick's freight has been delivered safely at Benton, save and except two bottles of bitters, which had been stolen from her cargo, and were consequently missing. The value of the missing goods was $2. We must characterize this as a good job, to be performed by two green clerks.

—We clip the following from a late New Orleans exchange: The following memorandum has been left with us as to fast time on the river between Canal street and Carrollton, between the Wild Wagoner, Capt. Goddin, and the Frank Pargoud, Capt. John W. Tobin. "The Wagoner, having backed down below the canal street landing, passed up under full headway, before the Pargoud got started up the river. The Wagoner was then several lengths ahead of the Pargoud before she got under headway, but when she did, it was but a few minutes before the P. passed the former. The time of the Pargoud was just 30 minutes from the foot of canal street to Carrollton, beating the time made by the Wagoner just 12½ minutes. The boats were timed by Major Norcross and Capt. Dick Sinnott. The time from St. Mary's Market to Carrolcton was 26½ minutes."

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 133.

A REPUBLICAN MEETING will be held at Freeport this afternoon, which will be addressed by GOV. GEARY and HON. MAHLON CHANCE. Let there be a full turn out of all who desire to hear the issues of the hour ably and intelligently discussed.

GOV. GEARY will be in the city to-night at the Monongahela House, and will remain over until Monday.

HON. MAHLON CHANCE, the gifted orator of Ohio, will address a Republican meeting to be held in Allegheny on next Monday evening.

LETTERS from officers of the U. S. Ship Sabine deny the reports of a mutiny, and its summary punishment, among the crew of that vessel.

HON. W. D. KELLY, of Philadelphia, has accepted invitations to address a Republican meeting to be held at City Hall on Tuesday evening, and at the Eleventh Ward School House on Wednesday evening.

THE Avondale Relief Fund already exceeds $200,000, and continues to swell. If divided among the widows who were bereaved by that shocking calamity, over $3,000 would be given to each. It is very properly suggested that this division would not secure the charitable purposes of the donors, to the more effective and permanent advantage of these women and children. A large responsibility rests, therefore, upon the local Committee, in the adoption of such a scheme, for the application of this large fund, as may provide the most enduring advantage to the beneficiaries.

THE New York Democracy have disappointed the prophets. The expected new departure has not been taken. They cling to the "dead issues" of the past, with a tenacity which cannot fail to disgust the friends of live men and live principles for the Democracy of the Union. The resolutions adopted at Albany on the 22d, sing the same old song which has for nine years been the invariable prelude to Democratic disaster.

They can no longer denounce a war which was ended four years since, but they go as far as they can in denouncing all its legitimate results. A party which was crushed nearly to the verge of extinction by its folly in opposing the irresistible progress of American liberty, in the events which culminated in 1865, is merely exhibiting its hopeless insanity when it pretends to-day to deny the legitimate fruits of the triumph of freedom. It will be crushed, finally and ere long, in the old rut from which not even the councils of its wiser friends seem to avail for its timely retreat.

ONE WEEK MORE.

The registry of voters in this county will close on Saturday next, October 2d. After Thursday, any assessment or registration is prohibited by law. And, of course, no citizen who has not been registered and assessed, will be allowed to vote, except upon other legal proof of his residence, to be offered to the election officers. These proofs will occasion vastly more of delay and trouble to the citizen, as well as to the officers, than will be found in timely attention to the matter during the coming week.

We again urge each reader to see for himself that his name is on the list before Saturday next. In the cities, the assessors may be speedily and conveniently found, and the country townships are not so large as to put any citizen to much inconvenience. Remember! But one week more!

AN EJECTION FROM THE CUTTLE-FISH.

The Commercial delights in generalities so vague that it is difficult to tell with tolerable certainty who or what it aims at. It more than intimates that there are very bad men on the Republican ticket, and who consequently ought to be put off. It urges us to help in that enterprise; but fails entirely to particularise who the bad men are, and in what consists their badness. We cannot act upon such indefinite suggestions. We have with critical exactness examined the names of the candidates that stand at the head of our columns, from Governor down to Director of the Poor, and have not found one that we believe ought to be stricken from the list. Perhaps, if we had been consulted, and our wishes had been followed, the ticket would not be exactly as it is. But many men are required to form a political party, and no one man, or journal—not even one of so much self-sufficiency as the Commercial—can have matters his or its own way. With due humility we accept the fact that we are only one among many, and that one, in large movements, seldom counts for much.

Now, if our neighbor really believes that there are bad men in nomination on the Republican ticket, let it have manliness enough, just once, to come from the underbrush of general accusation, and state plainly who it means, and by what specifications it justifies the arraignment. It ought to stop skulking, first of all, for its own sake; next for the sake of those candidates, if any, which it may concede to be honest and honorable; and, last of all, for the sake of the Republican party, if indeed it has any regard left for that organization. Who do you impeach, and with what show of evidence? Now, let us hear you speak exactly to the point, or else forever after hold your peace.

WHAT COMES OF TALKING WITH THE PEOPLE.

Since the Spanish Regency has declined to accept the proffered mediation of our own government, to secure peace in Cuba, it is understood that our Minister at Madrid has been instructed to withdraw all the pending propositions in that direction. It is also clearly settled that the Administration will not recognize Cuban belligerency, and our neutrality will be faithfully enforced, upon the basis of an absolute non-intervention, unless, as is very improbable, another policy shall be suggested by Congress. Under the recent agitation of this matter, and the pressure of enlightened opinion in this country, the Cuban question has found its proper level at last, and will no longer have the prominence which seems to have needlessly embarrassed the Cabinet councils.

The country has cause for congratulations, in the wise conclusions which the Administration has reached in this matter. When it is known that a marked change in the opinions of prominent officials at Washington was observed immediately after the return of the President from his tour among the people, it is not difficult to conclude that this tour has itself contributed very powerfully to the new phase of the question at the Capital. General GRANT has availed himself, evidently, of his widely extended opportunities to ascertain the sentiments of the people at large, concerning the Cuban revolt and our own duty in connection with it. Looking outside of the narrow circles in which a few professional politicians and a small party of noisy eastern journalists, who have hitherto contrived to represent their own interested utterances as being the actual sentiment of the popular masses, the President has, we are satisfied, found, in mingling with the people within the month past, that the proposition to intervene, in any shape, in the Spanish-Cuban quarrel, comprehended in fact a fatal blunder. He has taken the plebiscitum, and finds the country to be solidly against either a foreign war, or any addition to our domestic burthens, in behalf of an insurrectionary mob of Cuban slave-drivers.

The President has returned to the Capital, thus instructed by his popular observations, and loses no time in officially responding to the almost universal sentiment of his countrymen. He will not the less regret the death of his friend and late Secretary of War, General RAWLINS, since he is thus precluded from convincing him, as he would be if the Secretary had survived, that every consideration of public duty, whether to our own people or to the interests of a humane civilization, has required the immediate and complete revision of those opinions, and of that policy which found their potent advocate in the Cabinet in the person of the late War Secretary.

The Presidential tour of this summer has not been time thrown away. Its first fruits, which we see in this better phase of the Cuban question, at Washington, give a grateful earnest of yet other results for which the people may look to an Executive who knows how to hear and how to comprehend the opinions of the people.

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT.

It is stated that, after the refusal of the Senate, last winter, to admit the Senators claiming seats from Georgia, on the ground that the Legislature of that State, in expelling the colored members "had failed to comply with the Acts of Congress and therefore had no right to representation," a resolution of the same purport was offered in the House by Mr. Boutwell. The passage of this resolution would have also unseated the Georgia Representatives. But, while it was still pending, the Georgia Legislature, doubtful of the prudence of its course, was considering a resolution referring to the State Courts the question of the right of colored members to hold the office. At the solicitation of the agents of the Legislature, General GRANT persuaded Mr. Boutwell to hold his resolution in suspense, until the decision by the Georgia Court should be made, upon the express understanding that all parties would abide by the decision when rendered. That decision was delayed until after Congress had adjourned, the Georgia Representatives still holding their seats by sufferance. It has since been pronounced, its terms fully confirming the office-holding rights of the colored citizen of Georgia. The conclusion is that Georgia must now keep faith, and restore the unseated members of color in her Legislature, or the Boutwell resolution will be pressed, as it should be, at the coming session.

The public may differ in judgment upon the policy or impolicy of the suspension of proper Federal action until the opinion of a State Court had been taken upon the rights of the State to disregard the plain intent of Federal legislation, but there will be an entire unanimity of opinion now, especially in view of the curious statement here made, upon the obligations of Georgia to accept for herself the decision of her own Court to its fullest extent, or to abide the proper consequences in the further discretion of Congress. We attach importance to the facts now disclosed, since they are doubtless true, and afford a clear explanation of the mysterious delay in decisive action at the last session.

WHETHER it is due to the logic of Senator Sumner's speech at Worcester, or to the very hard fact just revealed at Washington, that the revolted slaveholders of Cuba have practiced the most flagrant deception in order to enlist American sympathies, we perceive that even the New York Tribune, which has been heretofore clamorous for Cespedes and his slave-driving guerillas, begins to take a different view. The annexed paragraph, from the Tribune of the 23d, reads very differently from any of its previous utterances in the premises. For example:

But so far we have no business to recognize even the belligerency of the insurgents. This is not a matter of caprice, but of fact. Belligerence is a state of affairs to be attested by evidence. If it does not exist, there is nothing to recognize, and we certainly have no proof that the Cuban insurgents, without forts, tribunals of justice, or established government, have yet reached that point. Until such proof appears we cannot recognize them without a plain violation of international obligations, however much our feelings may be enlisted in their cause.

THE Cincinnati Commercial has this pointed allusion, to existing difficulties in the way of the complete usefulness of a gentleman who is not wholly unknown in this vicinity. We hear:

The report is credible that Sam. Cary is organizing secret societies throughout the State, while in the pay of the Democratic State Central Committee. Sam. has been in that business ever since he was old enough to drive oxen. He never could resist the temptation, when he heard of a secret society, for applying for immediate admission. There is a mezzotint engraving of Sam. in existence, in which he appears in all the glory of the regimentals of a Patriarch, or something of the sort, of the Sons of Temperance. It is a wonderful picture. Sam. has been, perhaps is, an Odd Fellow, Red Man, Mason, Know Nothing and Son of Temperance. He would have been a Daughter of Rebekah if his sex had permitted.

ANOTHER shining light in American diplomacy is forever extinguished by the subjoined note from Secretary FISH to the Brazilian Government. Under date of June 18th, our Secretary writes:

"SIR: You are aware that Mr. J. W. Webb, United States Minister at Rio Janeiro, has thought proper to demand his passports from the Government of Brazil, in consequence of the unfavorable interpretation which he has put upon the answer to a demand which he had received orders to address to that Government on the subject of the "Canada." But as he had received neither orders nor authority to act as he has done in the circumstances, the Government of the United States hopes that his conduct, in which it has taken no part, will not be regarded by the Government of Brazil as interrupting amicable diplomatic relations between the two Governments."

CITIZENS of Pittsburgh, irrespective of party, will derive but small satisfaction in noting the scandalously false insinuation of an opposition print in Philadelphia, as follows:

The city of Pittsburgh is now borrowing money in New York and Philadelphia to meet accrued and accruing portions of her old loans. This offers, we do not doubt, an excellent investment. But is it not a ground for some disquiet that the old repudiation party of Allegheny county now furnishes the Radical candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court?—Age, Sept. 22, 1869.

IOWA expects to gain three Representatives by the next apportionment.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

It is a singular fact, and one of rare occurrence, if indeed at all, for men not engaged in unlawful pursuits to beat off the tax-gatherer with a bludgeon, or cause the assassination of honest revenue officers, whom they could neither bribe nor frighten. The shooting of the Philadelphia revenue officer is a case in point. There is much truth in the view of the Advance, of Chicago, that the man who will go into the whisky business will not scruple at any crime in carrying it on. This is pretty severe language, and yet the course of many engaged in manufacturing and speculating in whisky, justifies the view taken by this Chicago paper.

It has been ascertained that fully fifty churches received damage in New England, by the storm week before last.

It is stated that sometimes persons are elected vestrymen in the Episcopal Church, and trustees of Congregational churches, who are not religious in the strictest sense of that word. But the Diocese of Tennessee not only requires all vestrymen to be members of the Church, but all those who vote for vestrymen also.

The noted Malcom case of communing with other than Baptists, came up for review recently, before the Warren Baptist Association, Rhode Island. It was resolved that while it recognizes the entire independence of individual churches it does not sympathize with the open communion practices of some of them.

Considerable stress is laid upon the modern mode of teaching in Sunday Schools, by uniform lessons. Two or three of the leading denominations have provided for this kind of instruction, and the Presbyterians will do likewise, we presume, from the statement of one of the papers of that body. The Advance thinks a school should have the directness of a rifle, and not the scattering qualities of a shot gun. This is all very well, but, we think, there is danger in abrogating some old time features that are essential to the spiritual success of a school. Nothing should interfere with personal conversation, by the teacher with each scholar, in regard to their soul's salvation. This intimacy between the teacher and scholar, has been the means of the salvation of multitudes.

The spiritual results at the Eastern Camp Meetings this season were remarkable and more than ordinary. It is conceded the order and respect for the Sabbath showed a marked improvement over former years, owing, no doubt, to closing the gates of the grounds. At Yarmarth Camp Meeting, on Sabbath evening, seventy-five to a hundred were forward for prayers. Whole seats of young ladies and gentlemen came together to the altar of prayer. At Sterling, one hundred and twenty-five were forward at once. At Hamilton, it was estimated that five hundred testified to the power and fullness of saving grace. At Machias, Kennebec, Hatfield, Willimantic and Martha's Vineyard, the same display of saving grace was seen. All these meetings occurred in New England.

Quite a stir has been produced by the editorial of Dr. Gilbert Haven, of Zion Herald, published at Boston, on "Secular Colleges," which appeared just after Dr. E. O. Haven had resigned the Presidency of the Michigan University, a State Institution, to take charge of the Methodist University, at Evanston, near Chicago. The position assumed was that institutions of learning not under denominational control, with scarcely an exception, were to a considerable extent a complete failure, and that they were hedged about with difficulties which prevented them from accomplishing as much good as they would with the same sources under the direction of a religious body. Dr. Haven says a secular university education is as impossible as a completely developed mind without religion.

Thirty-four Presbyteries are reported in the Presbyterian as having voted unanimously on the Basis of Union of the two Presbyterian bodies.

According to the Presbyterian Rev. James M. Platt, pastor of the Leetsdale Presbyterian church, goes to Bath, Genesee Valley, and Rev. J. Henry Sharp, of Valley church (Wood's Run) accepts a call to the pastorate of the Wharton street church, Philadelphia.

The Allegheny Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, convened at Bedford, Pa., on the 15th and adjourned on the evening of the 20th. There were thirty-six ministers in attendance beside lay delegates, commissioners and visitors.

Many of our readers are interested in the "Ministerial Vote," by the Annual Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and we shall refer to it from time to time. Seventeen Conferences have voted, 1,089 for 326 against—total 1,415. This is more than three-fourths majority. If the vote maintains the same ratio in the Conferences yet to vote, as the seventeen, the question of the introduction of lay delegation is virtually settled in favor of the measure.

According to the Catholic of this city, "Archbishop Manning has declared that from a Catholic point of view, the United States Public School system is the worst in the civilized world." The public schools in this community are conducted in a way that does not justify such a severe view as the Archbishop has expressed.

The Central Congregational church, at Brooklyn, Rev. J. C. French pastor, during the dozen years of its existence has grown from a membership of twenty-seven to the aggregate of five hundred. They have twice enlarged the house of worship, and next year will begin the erection of a new edifice to accommodate fifteen hundred with sitting room, at a cost of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

One of the churches in Cherokee county, Georgia, propose to exclude all female members who wear hoops, paniers, small hats, or use cosmetic paints, or other appliances, to make an extended show "for man's illusion given."

East Genessee Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, comprising about two hundred ministerial members, requires each person admitted to that body to abstain from the use of tobacco in every form.

It is stated the following days of the week are those set apart for public worship in the different nations: Sunday, by the Christians; Monday, by the Grecians; Tuesday, by the Persians; Wednesday, by the Assyrians; Thursday, the Turks, and Saturday, by the Jews.

The following "Vinegar Story" is vouched for by the Christian Witness, illustrating the kind of liberality that sometimes prevails among Church parishioners:

"Mr. ——— is still living?"

"Oh! yes; one of the best men in the parish; not very liberal, but a good man and very rich."

"What does he do for your support?"

"Well, not much, but he pays his pewrent."

"Does he sell vinegar now?"

"Oh! yes; he has one of the largest orchards in the parish; and is so conscientious that his cider is all made into vinegar."

"Does he give you any of his vinegar?"

"Not he."

So it was in my day. His vinegar was made to sell. When his daughter sickened and died, I went there almost every day, about five miles off. When she died she had a great funeral, and I sat up most of the night to write a funeral sermon. I called the next day. Then a few days after I went, and thought I would carry my vinegar jug, which just then happened to be empty. The jug was filled. I did not like to take it away without offering to pay for it, and so I said, as meekly as possible: "What shall I pay you?" "Well," said my good parishioner, "I generally charge twenty-five cents a gallon, but seeing as how you have been so kind to me in trouble etc., I won't charge you but twenty cents."

At this time I had eleven children and was living on a salary of six hundred dollars per annum."

Death in a Sleeping Car.

The passengers on the Saturday night train of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad for Cincinnati were startled from their slumbers at an early hour in the morning by the cry "Mother's dead!" uttered in an agonizing shriek from the rear end of the car by a woman who afterwards proved to be the daughter of the deceased. The circumstances attending the death were these: The old lady, who was quite an invalid, had been taken on board at the village of Jamestown, New York, where she was met by her daughter, her daughter's husband, a merchant in Cincinnati, and a grand-daughter with whom she proposed to spend the winter for the benefit of her health. The old lady, though quite cheerful, was too feeble to sit up during the day, and one of the sections was arranged for her to lounge upon till bed-time, and her children were unwearying in their attentions, watching her with such tender, thoughtful care, as to attract the attention of those about them. In the evening before they retired, the young people sang a beautiful hymn in an undertone, while the old lady sat looking out dreamily into the purple twilight with an expression which seemed to tell of yearnings for the spirit world, which was so soon to be her home. At bed-time she was placed away nicely in a section all to her self, being visited from time to time by her daughters, to whose tender inquiries she replied that she thought she would pass the night as comfortably as though she were in her own room at home. The last time her daughter spoke to her was at two o'clock in the morning. When she went over at four o'clock again the spirit of the mother had passed away to the better land, apparently without a pain or struggle. It was a strange scene, that of the bustling, talking crowd of early risers, crowding thoughtlessly about the car getting ready to disembark, contrasted with the other, where the corpse was laid out in the corner section, with the children kneeling and weeping at the bedside and refusing to be comforted. The old lady was a general favorite in the village whence she came, and was escorted to the cars by quite a number of friends and acquaintances, to whom she said at parting, "Tell them all if I slip away on this journey that I was ready and willing to go."

WALHINGTON PA.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 23, 1868.

Thousands of people are crowding our town to-day. They come in various ways—on cars, coaches, horse-back, and in carriages and wagons, and not a few on foot. The report put in circulation that the President would remain till the fair, has had much to do with augmenting the crowd. Some, it will be presumed, will feel bitterly disappointed. No one, however is to blame, as the President was called away sooner than he expected to go.

The receipts of the Fair will be large, but a very poor compensation is given. Exhibitions are comparatively few. Our farmers seem to think it does not pay to bring their stock and the products of their farms. And the fact is they are not much mistaken. The "ring" has monopolized every thing. Fast horses win—win attention and the lion's share of the premiums. This error must be corrected else our Agricultural Fairs will have to be abandoned altogether.

The display to-day of fruits and vegetables is uncommonly good. Several very fine carriages, manufactured in our place, are greatly admired. There are horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and fowls, but none of them attract special attention. It is worth more to see the people than anything else. They are well dressed and well behaved. Sobriety and good order prevail everywhere. Fair closes this evening. AMICUS.

THE COURTS.

Quarter Session—Judge Mellon.

FRIDAY, September 24.—The case of the commonwealth vs Conrad Schusler, indicted for felonious assalt and battery reported yesterday, was resumed and occupied the attention of the court during the entire session. It was submited to the Jury before adjourning, but no verdict had been rendered when the court adjourned.

JUDGE STERRETT.

In the District court room, Judge Sterrett presiding, the case of the commonwealth vs James Smith indicted for horse stealing, was taken up. The accused was charged for stealing two horses from James Kelly an account of which we published some time since. The defendent declined counsel and plead his own case. The Jury returned a verdict of guilty and the person was remanded for sentence.

The Boulevard pavement is surely gaining favor and will ere long doubtless supercede, in a great measure, the old brick pavement, for certain purposes. This is no clap-trap invention, as any person may discover by calling at 65 Ohio street, or examining it at other places throughout the city where it is in use. Messrs. McCowan & Co. are the sole agents for the Boulevard in this vicinity.

IT IS discovered by a physician that the celebrated fasting boy of Fontainbleu, France, is secretly sustained by absorbing soaps through sponges placed against his person. The boy's proprietors have claimed that he has tasted no food for three years—and maybe he hasn't.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and effeient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

KEEP THE BODY IN GOOD REPAIR.

It is much easier to keep the system in good condition than to restore it to that condition when shattered by disease. The "House of Life," like other houses, should be promptly propped up and sustained whenever it shows signs of giving way. The first symptom of physical debility should be taken as a hint that a stimulant is required. The next question is, "what shall the stimulant be?"

A wholesome vegetable tonic, the stimulating properties of which are modified by the juices and extracts of anti-febrile and laxative roots and herbs—something which will regulate, soothe and purify, as well as invigorate—is the medicine required by the debilitated. There are many preparations which are claimed to be of this description, but HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the great vegetable preventive and restorative that has won its way to the confidence of the public and medical profession by a quarter of a century of unvarying success, stands pre-eminent among them all. To expatiate on its popularity would be to repeat a twice told tale. It is only necessary to consult the records of the United States Revenue Department to learn that its consumption is greater than that of any other proprietary remedy of either native or foreign origin

As a means of sustaining the health and strength under a fiery temperature, the BITTERS have paramount claim to consideration. It has the effect of fortifying and bracing the nervous and muscular systems against the ordinary consequences of sudden and violent changes of temperature, and is therefore peculiarly useful at this season when hot sunshine by day and ice-cold dews by night, alternately heat and chill the blood of those who are exposed to them.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are sold in bottles only. To avoid being deceived by counterfeits, see that the name of the article is on the label, and embossed on the glass of the bottles, and our revenue stamp over the cork.

They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation, 417 miles long, upon which it is also a mortgage, NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Sept. 24, 1869.

The excitement in Wall street to-day has certainly exceeded anything in its history. The great Erie corner, repeated twice, the corner in Fort wayne, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, New York Central, Pacific Mail and Michigan Southern, were small affairs in comparison to what was enacted in gold to-day. Although the fluctuations to-day in gold were not as wide in their range as during the war, they were never so violent and so different in character, as during the war when gold advanced suddenly, everybody was concerned in it, but to-day the outside public had no share in either the profits or the loses incurred; these were entirely confined to the dealers in the foreign banks and the importers. If gold advanced on the strength of the misfortunes of our armies during the war, the mass of the population rushed to buy gold, but to-day the man who carried gold ever so long, could not sell it except he belonged to the ring, or had millions to sell. The plant for the great corner in gold emanated from the Erie clique with Jay Gould the Treasurer of that company, and a partner of a bankers firm long prominent in Broad street, as its head, in conjunction with another brokers firm also prominent in the gold room. These parties noticing how importers, bankers and a number of private individuals were discounting the expected large export of cotton, grain &c., conceived the idea of buying up all the gold on the market, or in other words, all that the banks held and what was in the Sub-Treasury, represented by gold certificates. They took all the contracts they could get, said to amount in all to about 75 millions dollars of gold. With this in possession, they suddenly refused to sell at any price, and offering all that was offered in round lots of from one to five millons, thus keeping out all the smaller operators, and preventing any embarrassing settlement at a crisis and saved a large amount of margin required by small houses. It is reliably reported that one house on Broadway was short fifteen millions, and others in proportion. By bidding to-day for lots of five millions at 160, and above, it was thought 1,75 could be reached. The Secretary of the Treasury, however, came in time to prevent such a calamity by offering to sell four millions of gold on Saturday, and four millions on Monday.

We never saw so many anxious faces to sell their gold at 160 as to-day, without being able to get a bid, as it was utterly impossible to sell, or even buy, otherwise than in millions, with but few exceptions. It was really surprising to see people hold back yesterday at even 143, expecting to get 150 or 175 to-day.

The fluctuations, although after being down from 162 or 170 in Philadelphia to 136, suddenly jumped to 147 and 160 again, to decline almost instantly to 135, 134, 133, 130 and 133½, to 134¼, closing at 5. P. M. at 133½ to 134. What the ultimate price of gold will be may well be imagined with eight millions coming from the Treasury.

About thirty-five millions to be paid in interest, due in November, but anticipated, and millions coming from Europe, now on the way, with daily increasing exports and an eager crowd of speculators for a decline, anticipating all these contingencies. Under such circumstances nobody need fear that this was the last excitement in gold; fluctuations will be rapid, although less violent, until a point about 120 is reached, when business may resume its regular course, and not until then will any business be done with a degree of safety. Space here prevents us extending on the further effects of this all absorbing question to-day.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 24.

The excitement growing out of the gold speculations resulted this morning in an absolute panic. At 9:15 A. M. 147½ was bid for gold, and quickly the price advanced to 153. At the opening of the Gold Room the price was held at 150 bid, and 151 asked, and the "bulls" offered to make settlements with the shorts on that basis. Few, however, accepted the overtures, being prevented by the hope that something might be done at Washington to relieve the market The anxiety for news from that quarter was intense, and the hope that the Treasury might interfere was strengthened by the fact that numerous and very urgent remonstrances were made to the President and Secretary of the Treasury by parties who, there was reason to expect, would have influence with the Administration; but not a word came from the Government, and while the "bears" were waiting the "bulls" were carrying up the price by rapid jumps to 162½. Near noon the "shorts," surrendering all hope, began to accept the offers of settlement, and some of the operators most heavily short compromised on the basis of 148@150. About noon an order came from the Secretary of the Treasury to sell to-morrow $4,000,000 of gold and purchase an equal amount of bonds. The order, however, did not come until the "bulls" had compelled a settlement at about 150, and the main operations of the bulls having been consummated, there was a sudden drop to 134. By 1:30 P. M, contrary to expectation, the speculation culminated without any effort to compel the payment of extraordinary rates for borrowing. On the contrary, while the price was being carried up to over 160, the "bulls" were offering from 1 32 to 1 per cent. per day for having their gold carried. According to the current report the "bull" clique claims to have made $11,000,000 out of their operations; and the losses on the other side must be equal. One prominent gold broker, Mr. A. G. Speyers, who was conspicuous this morning for bidding 160 for one million gold, when the price was 135, had failed to take up the gold, in defense made a statement in the Gold Room this afternoon to the effect that the gold he bought yesterday was for Mr. W. Belden, and this bill for gold at 160 to-day was on account of James Fisk, Jr., and that his inability to deliver arose from both parties not having given him any margin. He did not, however, explain why he bid 160 when gold could have been bought at 135. Mr. Speyer's conduct in other respects during the day was such as to suggest the idea that he was under some hallucination, but a report current on the street that he had been placed in care of his friends does not appear to have been correct.

The enormous transactions in the Gold Room have produced a complete block in business. In the Gold Exchange Bank it has been impossible to effect all the clearances within the usual hours, and the result has been that brokers have been unable to make settlements of their accounts and several firms have been forced into temporary suspension with serious embarassment to the whole market. Several firms are thus placed in a position of having their margin locked up in the Gold Exchange bank and being unable to make their accounts good with their bank, and therefore cannot give their checks in settlement of claims.

The Commercial says among the firms prominently affected from this cause are A. G. Speyers, Belden & Co., P. H. Williams, Jr., Galway, Hunter & Co., Chas. McClure & Co., S. B. Waller and Wm. Heath & Co. The two latter firms assure their creditors of their entire ability to make all claims good as soon as they are enabled to get possession of their funds by the completion of the gold clearances, and there is apparently a good probability that few of the other firms mentioned will prove to be permanent failures.

The Express says: The closing of the day, the most eventful one in the history of Wall street, was comparatively calm, although in all directions were gathered small crowds of brokers and speculators talking over and discussing the exciting scenes. It is stated officially that the gold exchange banks will probably be able to make their settlements by five or six o'clock this evening, when the leading brokers will make a settlement with the street. Some, however, may not be able to straighten out their affairs before to-morrow. Many reports are current on the streets in regard to large failures therefore, they should be received with caution, as all indications point to a satisfactory settlement to-morrow. Yesterday the clearings of the Gold Exchange Bank, presenting Wednesday's business, amounted to $324,524,000, but to-day's transactions must have largely exceeded that amount. The Treasury announcement is as follows:

New York, September 24, 1869.—NOTICE.—The Government reserves the right to accept all bids made at 12 o'clock to-morrow evening in excess of four millions for gold or bonds at discretion.

By direction of the Honorable, Secretary of the Treasury.

[Signed] DANIEL BUTTERFIELD, Assistant Treasurer.

Gold was neglected during the afternoon, the price ranging from 133 to 135 until late in the day, when it fell to 132½, the closing price. There is a rumor that a foreign banking house sold five millions to-day for the Goverment, but it is officially contradicted. The rates paid for carrying were 1 32 to 1 per cent. during the morning and ¼ per cent in the afternoon, though some loans were made flat since the above was written.

Gold advanced to 133, at which it closed. Failures and reports of failures have produced unsettled feeling in the money market, and the improvement which followed the break in gold has not since been maintained. The minimum rate is 7 per cent. gold, and ¼@½ is very generally paid for carrying stocks. Foreign exchange was decidedly better on the decline in gold. Prime bankers sterling bills at 7⅛@8, with more business.

The panic in gold was attended with a decline in Governments, ranging from ⅝ to 1⅞ per cent. At the second call

CONFESSIONS OF A HOUSE-BREAKER.

"House-breaking wants 'nerve' and a cool head. You can pick a pocket or 'lift' a watch in broad day; but you must creep through a house when the night is darkest, sometimes doing everything by feeling, not daring to strike a light for fear of rousing up the dogs or the men. Certainly it is dangerous. It's no use to deny that there is a feeling about the business which often makes one grow scared and tremble more than those who may wake up and find us looking down upon them as they sleep. Sometimes we go by a house in the daytime, and give the windows a good look, see the number of them and the doors, judge, if we can, whether the family sleep above or below, how many persons it contains, and whether there are dogs about who might disturb operations. We don't always know that anything is to be gained; we judge, many times from the looks of the place. If the man is in business, and it is not Saturday night, it is probable that he will bring home more or less money that he didn't bank. If he is a gentleman, doing nothing, or speculating, why, the chances are that he has a roll of bills laid away in the drawer of some desk or bureau.

"People are always warned against us, and they are always discussing the safest place to hide money in the house. Naturally enough, we of the craft are always discussing the best place to find it. It is only five minutes work to go through a desk or bureau; the locks are nothing—fale keys or a "jimmy" soon open everything. If people hide their greenbacks under the carpet, in the clock, or throw them up among the rubbish of the pantry, of course we don't always get them, and then we take watches, jewelry, silver p'ate, and whatever has value that can be easily got away with and disposed of. Give me an hour in your house, and I can find your money if it is anywhere commonly hidden. It is generally easy enough to get in. If there are many doors, the chances are that one is unlocked; so with the windows—some are generally left unfastened. I don't care for the doors. I only pick a door when there's no other plan. It is easy to open a window. The lock or spring has got to go if you get a good purchase. If the noise is heard wait an hour, until the people are again quiet. I had rather not go into a bedroom at first; something you do will most always wake them up. Getting into the kitchen, you can open your dark lantern, look about, and then pass to the next. Your rubbered feet make no noise, and you turn the knobs so easy that you yourself hear no sound. Some of us carry a small oil can, to prevent rusty hinges from squeaking so loudly; but a sag of your weight on the knob will generally prevent any noise.

"You go from one room to another. If no one sleeps below you may throw open your light and walk boldly about, for the chances are that you will not be heard. If there are sleepers down stairs you can soon find the room by the breathing, coughing or restless sleep. If the door of the bed-room is shut you may be ten minutes in opening it wide enough to get in; it must move inch by inch, and you must listen for any change in the breathing. Once the door is opened, you shed a streak of light over the floor to find where the man has placed his clothing. Sometimes the ticking of his watch will lead you without a light. If he has keys or coins in his pants, you must take the more care. The chances are that you will not get out without waking some one, but if your light is not shining, and you crouch down, the alarm will soon subside and the people again go to sleep. Women wake the easiest, and if one is once thoroughly aroused, you had better make a bolt for out door. I have entered perhaps a hundred houses, and tried to enter hundreds more, and I have always found that women were the soonest to take alarm. With two men fast asleep in a room, I should neither be so extremely careful of my light or care to move about quietly, for not one in ten will wake if you haul the pillow from under their heads. Men are more or less prepared for us, with revolvers, knives or clubs, but what good is a weapon to a man asleep? Besides, these things are the first to be seen, as they lay upon chairs or stands, and we take care to remove them at once. I won't say that I have not been often badly frightened; if a man gets up to grapple with you, you may be sure he is brave and determined, and none of us care to get a sentence of fifteen or twenty years. I make it a point to always bolt when the thing can be done. I never was yet caught inside, and if I should be, knowing what would follow, why—why"—and he laughed a malicious laugh and put his hand to his breast.

The World a Huge Photograph.

There are other photographs besides those which are taken in the studio of the maker of portraits. Every object on the earth's surface is continually emitting rays, which affect all the objects around it, and produce on them impressions which may be invisible to our eyes, but which are nevertheless well marked and definite, and might be rendered visible, if properly developed, as the photographers would call it. So that, in fact, the surface of the earth is nothing but one huge photograph on which is delineated all objects, and all passing events. Sometimes these photographs become so far developed, as to be visible to the human eye; thus, a man in San Joaquin, Cal., has in his possession a surveyor's instrument, on the front lens of which there is plainly seen a beautiful landscape, with all the varied hues of Nature. Some fifteen years ago, according to the owner's account, the instrument had been in use, and was left standing for a time, on the plain, in a scorching mid-day's sun, fronting a woodland. When again brought into use, a correct picture of the fronting woodland, with all the various colors of the landscape, was photographed on the lens, and has remained unchangeable to the present time. The truth of all this is easily tested in the following manner. Take a sheet of clean white paper, on it lay a leaf, and place the whole, for a few hours, in bright sunlight. Remove the leaf and lay away the sheet of paper in a drawer, or other place. If, after the lapse of a few months, the paper be again placed in the sunlight, an image of the leaf will appear on its surface.

In England, when railway companies sell tickets and the cars are full, excluded passengers hire coaches, and make the company, by suit in court, pay the bill.

SETTLING PROPERTY ON A WIFE.

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

When men are prosperous and are making money, and consider themselves rich, I wonder that it so seldom comes home to them that they are liable to reverses, which shall plunge their families into the utmost pecuniary distress. Men know that business is subject to fluctuations, and nothing is more frequent than that men should in one year have all the comforts and advantages of wealth, and the next year be stripped bare. But a vicious hopefulness prevents them from realizing that they shall ever be subject to this fate which befalls others.

Men expect to live; they do not anticipate bankruptcy. When times change, and the pinch comes, it is too late for them to make provision for the family. The wife, the children, the whole household are suddenly plunged into distress. Indeed, much as the business man suffers himself, his own pangs are the least part of the suffering.

I have lived long enough to see the overthrow of a great many families because the father, believing that he should live and always keep them in comfortable circumstances, had neglected to make an independent provision for them.

At the man's death the estate proves either insolvent, or is reduced to a minimum. The wife, not trained to business, is obliged to settle the estate by agents. What with unskillful management, carelessness, or even, sometimes, deliberate fraud, the residuum melts in her hands, and the widow, with five or six young children to be fed, clothed and educated, finds herself alone and penniless! Habits cannot be changed in a day. She has not been trained to business. She may have been a good house-keeper, but now she must earn money, which is a very different thing from ordering a household skillfully. Some, utterly overmatched, break down under the trial, and the children are scattered like young partridges whose mother the hawk has devoured.

I believe it to be the duty of every man who is prosperous, out of debt, and making money to settle upon his wife a certain amount of property, which shall not be affected by either his bankruptcy or his death. This may be done by a life insurance—especially if it be a policy which is not forfeited by neglect of payment. But a still better way is to settle upon the wife a good house and the furniture. Then, if misfortune comes, the man will still have a home. He will be secure at the root, and may begin again with some hope. If death takes away the father, the nest remains. The children do not need to be scattered.

Some persons have questioned whether a scrupulous honesty would allow one to hold back from creditors any part of a husband's property. A settlement of property on another while debt hangs over it, either for the sake of avoiding payment of debt, or of securing the family, would be fraudulent, dishonest, and wicked. But if, while clear of debt, the husband settles property on his wife for the just maintenance of herself and children, his after debts have no more claim upon that property than if he had sold and transferred it to a neighbor instead of to his own wife. No man has a right to leave a family whom he has accustomed to affluence liable to sudden and wasting poverty. A provision made betimes, in property, for the safety of his family in case of his death or bankruptcy, may be accepted and employed by the most sensative conscience. I write strongly on this subject, because I have seen so much distress arising from the want of such precaution.

Whittier's Tribute to Humboldt.

[From the Boston Transcript of Sept. 18.]

The following eloquent tribute to the genius and character of Alexander Von Humboldt, by John G. Whittier, was sent to the Chairman of the Centennial Anniversary, and was laid before the delegates and invited guests at their evening reception:

AMESBURY, 9th Mo. 6th, 1869.—To R. C. Waterston, Jefferies Wyman. N. B. Shurtleff, &c., Committee.—GENTLEMEN: I fear I shall not be able to be present at the centennial celebration of the birth of Alexander Von Humboldt, to which you invite me, but I cannot let the occasion pass without expressing my entire sympathy with the object of the society which you represent. There is little danger of overestimating the worth of such a man as Humboldt, whose reputation, outgrowing the limits of Nationality and breaking down distinctions of race and language, has become universally acclimated, the common property of Science, Civilization and Human Progress.

What most impresses me, in contemplating his life and character, is their symmetry and rounded completeness. He was not exceptionally great in one direction only; wherever you touch him you felt the firm muscle of his intellectual strength. He saw all sides with cosmoscal apprehension. His mind, like the wheels of Ezekiel's vision, was "full of eyes round about." He had a broad generous, nature, and neither art, nor science, nor philosopy, could overlay and smother his humanity. The profoundest of all students of the laws of the universe, he was never indifferent to the walfare of his fellow-men. He hated all slavery, mental, spiritual, physical. He was only intolerant of intolerance. His generous and hearty interest in the cause of freedom in the United States can never be forgotten by those of us who, in the dark and evil days, were cheered by his approval and sympathy.

Doubtless it is not well to set up human idols. But, while judging severely of wasted and dishonored lives, it surely becomes us to cherish gratefully and reverently those marked by noble aims and honest achievement.

Honor, then, to the great German, and let a common admiration of the flower and consummation of Teutonic genius and culture, serve to unite in closer brotherhood his countrymen and ours.

Very truly your friend.
JOHN G. WHITTIER.

A JOINT Committee of the G. A. R., of Cincinnati, have called a mass meeting of citizens on the 29th, for the purpose of devising some practicable and permanent mode of furnishing needed aid to the widows and orphans of Union soldiers. A careful poll of the number, residence and circumstances of these widows and orphans has satisfied the Committee that no adequate provision has been made for them, and no certain, systematic means of aid in times of sickness and want, and that at this time there is great suffering and destitution, which will sadly increase as winter comes on.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 25 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday, for consultation free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Once hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. my13:151-d&F

Free Exhibitions.—The youthful fraternity in the vicinity of the Third Ward, Diamond Square, Allegheny have constructed thereon a "spring board," and every evening treat the passers by to amateur circus performances. From Megraw's.—"Where did you get that fine cigar?" was the question asked the other evening, which elicited the reply, "Why at Megraw's, 45 Hand street, the best place in town for a first class article." Every one should hear it.

Abusing an Offices.

John Haddey and John Morgan were arrested Thursday night for abusing an officer. Officer Bower discovered the accused at the corner of Grant and Water streets, acting disorderly and requested them to desist and leave the place. They paid no attention to the request, and when the officer came back he found them where he had left them. He attempted to arrest them when they resisted and beat him severly. A number of citizens interferred and assisted in taking the "roughs" to the lock-up where they remained until this morning when they were committed in default of $30 each.

Fatal Accident.

A fatal accident occurred about twelve o'clock yesterday at Bailey's coal pit, in Lower St. Clair township. It appears that David Phillips, who resides near Beltzhoover's tavern, on Plumer Run, at the time of the accident was engaged in shovelling coal in the pit named, when a quantity of slate fell upon from the roof of the room in which he was working. He was standing with the shovel handle under his chin, and when the slate fell it is presumed he was killed instantly, as his neck was broken. A messenger was sent for the Coroner, but being unable to find him he notified Alderman Donaldson, whom, we presume, will hold an inquest on the body.

Mortuary Report.

The Physician to the Board of Health, Dr. W. Snively, makes the following return of deaths in the city of Pittsburgh, for the week commencing September 11th and ending September 18th, 1869:

There were 23 deaths, of which 17 were males and 6 females; 23 were white and none colored.

The causes of death were: old age, one; unknown, one; pericarditis, one; marasmus, one; tuberculosis, four; convulsions, three; meningitis, one; typhoid fever, two; dysentery, two; cholera infantum one; still born, five.

Of the above there were under 1 year, 7; from 1 to 2, 2; from 2 to 5, 1; from 5 to 10, 1; from 10 to 15, 2; from 30 to 40, 3; from 40 to 50, 1, from 50 to 60, 1; from 60 to 70, 2; from 80 to 90, 1.

The Fifth Avenue Market.

It is sincerely hoped that Councils will, on Monday next, definitely dispose of the Fifth avenue Market question by acting favorably on the site selected on the corner of Miltenberger street. There is but one feeling in the matter, and that is, that a new market house is absolutely needed in that locality for the accommodation of the people, and that any outlay now made will be more than returned inside of five years when the market is in operation, and thereafter it will prove a source of revenue to the city. The only question to be solved, in the establishment of a market, is, will it be patronized? If any trade is directed towards it, and the people, for whose accommodation it is started, will try their commodities there, no possible doubt can exist as to whether it will pay or not. All experience shows that markets are a wealth to the city, being self-sustaining and profit-yielding institutions, and the project now before councils should be favorably acted upon, and we mistake the judgment, prudence and sagacity of the members, if the needed favorable legislation is not awarded on Monday. POLITICAL.

Republican Meeting in the Sixteenth Ward.

A most glorious and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held in the Sixteenth ward, at the corner of the Greensburg Pike and John street, last night. Just as the immense crowd was gathering, the gallant banner Tanner Club of the ward came marching down, headed by the Great Western Band, and carrying the beautiful flag presented to them by the loyal ladies of Allegheny City during the last campaign. The spirit of this gallant old club is still the same, and the members are fully awake to the great importance of the present contest.

The meeting was called to order by making Mr. A. B. Boal Chairman, and the following gentlemen were made Vice Presidents: James McKay, Anthony Kerman, Wm. Robb, Thomas Merkel, Geo. Aesenthaler, A. G. Craig, John Gangwish, Hawden Marshall, Saml. McKinley, Louis Sist, Wm. C. Barr, Robt. Watson.

The chairman then introduced the Hon. Thomas Howard, who made an eloquent speech. He very ably handled Asa Packer's income tax, which was received with great applause. A grand and deserving eulogy was paid to our gallant soldier and next Governor, John W. Geary, which was received with deafening applause from the crowd listening. His speech occupied about two hours, and during the entire time the numbers of the meeting steadily increased, until the close of his remarks there were at least three thousand people present.

After the meeting Capt. R. H. Smith re-organized the Sixteenth Ward Tanner club, and marched to the handsome residence of Mr. Andrew Kloman where, through the hospitality of himself and his very kind lady, they, were very handsomely entertained. The band accompanied them and interspersed the entertainment with some very fine music.

More About Co-operative Life Insurance.

The following letter, which explains itself, we take from the Chronicle:

MESSRS. EDITORS:—An article which appeared in your Saturday's paper on the subject of Co-operative Life Insurance, if let pass without notice will greatly mislead the public judgment and work a corresponding wrong to this company.

As an expose of a defective and fraudulent scheme of life insurance against which the public were cautioned months ago in the circulars of this company—the article is fair enough, but as it condemned alike all forms of co-operation, it will foster the conclusion that this company is obnoxious to the objections alleged against the Manhattan Co-operative of New York and similar institutions elsewhere.

I therefore desire to say that the system of life insurance practiced by this Company differs as radically from the "Manhattan scheme" as it does from the various "plans" of the old style companies; it was devised to obviate the defects and incongruities of both, and every man who has taken the trouble to fully investigate the subject, concedes to it a large measure of success in this direction.

It will be sufficient for my present purpose to specify some of the more important points wherein our system differs from the Manhattan scheme:

1st. The Manhattan scheme makes no contract of insurance, but merely proposes to give its members an uncertain benefit, which will be large or small, according to the number of contributors. This is NOT so in our company. We make a positive contract of insurance with every one, the amount of which is not affected by the defalcations of any number of our patrons, nor is the ability of the company to make good its contracts injuriously affected by such defalcation.

2d. The Manhattan scheme requires the long payment of its assessments which, to those who over live an average life, will make its insurance, (if such it may be called,) cost vastly more than it is worth, (and this is also true of the "life plans" of the many of the old style companies.

But it is NOT so in our company, which proposes, and in its accumulating policy contracts to require no farther payments after twenty years, and by the terms of the policy each insurance for $1,000 will make a direct gain in lieu of interest on the investment, not less than $880.

3d. In the Manhattan scheme, a failure to continue payments until death, works an absolute forfeiture of all benefits from the past payments, no matter how long they may have been continued.

This is NOT so in this company. Our policies are by their terms, absolutely non forfeiting for as large a proportion as are those of any other responsible company.

4th. The Manhattan scheme proposes to accomplish its insurance on a margin altogether insufficient, and which must insure its certain failure long before the end of an average life.

This is NOT so in this Company. Our average margin is more than equal to what the regular companies represent as sufficient (but still much less than most of them required), and each one thousand insurances for $1,000 each, by our accumulating policy, will give us at the end of twenty years a surplus of not less than five or six hundred thousand dollars, which will be abundantly sufficient to keep the policies in force without further payment.

The above facts, all of which are susceptible of the clearest demonstration, will be sufficient to convince every fair minded man that the Co-Operative Life Insurance Company of Western Pennsylvania should not be confounded with this Manhattan scheme.

In conclusion I will add that the feeling of annoyance first felt at Saturday's publication has given place to one of gratification at the excellent opportunity it presents to thus publicly contradict the statements which have been industriously used in private on this subject, so that gentlemen who may have believed they were speaking truth, will now have no excuse for continuing such misrepresentations of the facts.

A. PATTERSON,
Actuary of the Co-Operative Life Insurance Company of Western Pennsylvania.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The audience at the Opera House last evening, on which occasion Mrs. Waller took a benefit, was unusually large and highly appreciative. "The Duchess of Malfi," which is said to be Mrs. Waller's strongest piece, was presented in a most admirable manner. At the matinee this afternoon the "Gun Maker of Moscow" and the "Daring Barber" will be presented, and "Lucretia Borgia" and "Guy Mannering" are announced for the evening entertainment. Mrs. Waller appears in both pieces.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The audience at the Pittsburgh Theatre continues large as usual, and the entertainments are of a character calculated to draw well. A splendid bill is announced for this afternoon at the matinee, and also for this evening. The local drama entitled "The Dark Deeds of the Iron City" will be presented, and those who are fond of fun should not fail to see it.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The Gregory troupe, which has occupied the Academy of Music for the past week, is a most excellent variety company, and we are pleased to state that they have been fully appreciated, as the large audiences to which they have played nightly, fully testifies. The Gregory's give a matinee at two o'clock this afternoon, and also an entertainment this evening.

Interesting.

The stock of articles on hand at 363 Liberty street, from the Keystone Pottery, Messrs. Kier & Co. propietors, is well worth examination by all who love the curious or useful in manufactures, whether purchasers or not. In the line of the useful, the fruit jars and queensware for household use is very large and attractive, while the thousand and one little nicknacs for ornamentation which are to be seen at the warehouse, would repay a visit of inspection. It is always pleasant to chronicle the success of a home enterprise, and it is therefore gratifying to note that the Keystone is achieving that well merited success which always attends energy and attention in the prosecution of any business.

Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well, is a rule which will also hold good in making purchases. For this reason people who recognize the truth of this principle, purchase their trunks, valises and articles in that line at Liebler's, 104 Wood street. They know nothing but the best article is kept on hand at that establishment. This fact easily explains the amount of business which crowds this manufactory to its utmost capacity.

Ladies don't forget to call at Moorheads, 81 Market street, in preparing a fall outfit. What cannot be had at this establishment in the line of dress goods &c., cannot be found in the city.

Piano Buyers' Notice

Messrs. Mellor & Hoene are now receiving their fall stock of pianos, selected personally at the factories in the East by Mr. Mellor. Among the lot are two magnificent Chickering Concert Grand Pianos, the finest and most artistic instruments ever brought to this city—so pronounced by all of our musicians who have seen them. Also, one of their newly invented patant action Up-right Pianos—a perfect gem of a piano. Also, a number of their superb Square Grands, with Agraffe attachments throughout. The fact that Mr. Mellor selected these pianos himself, is a guarantee of their excellence, for all our citizens know of his rare and extensive qualifications and experience in the piano business. Those persons intending to purchase, will find it to their advantage to examine this splendid stock Rooms, No. 52 Fifth avenue, next door to Masonic Hall. 3

The Continental.

Unlike some of our restaurants, the Continental, from its peculiar location, is always cool and pleasant, a fact which materially adds to the attractions of the place. Half of the enjoyment of a repast is taken away when it is eaten in a situation where the heat is so great that the eater feels uncomfortably hot. Add to this attraction the bountiful supply of the good things of life which are daily spread upon the table, and the reason of the great success which has attended the Continental during the hot weather even is easily explained. Mr. Holtzheimer understands his business, and by consulting, without regard to expense, the wants and wishes of his patrons, he has achieved for his establishment an unsurpassed reputation. To patronize it once is but the prelude to other calls, at least such has been the experience of hundreds who crowd around the board daily.

The vast amount of PLANTATION BITTERS now being sold and shipped from New York is almost incredible. Go when and where you will—along the wharves and piers, and at the depots—you will see great piles of these Bitters awaiting shipment and conveyance to every nook and corner of the country, and to the hundreds of foreign ports. They are very popular among all classes of people, and are conceded to be just the thing for this climate. No Bitters have yet been introduced which have beome so deservedly popular and worthy of patronage, to all who require a tonic and stimulant. They are prepared with pure St. Croix Rum, Calisaya Bark, and all the world knows full well what beneficial results accrue from these combinations.
